RECOMMENDATION

Provide a narrative of why we should or should not consider this resort	It's the most photographed building in Quebec City. It's huge and sits on a bluff that overlooks the River. It is more impressive on the outside than on the inside although it would serve more than adequately for any ski group.

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

This hotel doesn't need to have the detailed information required by this form. It is the premier place in Quebec City. It's like the Banff Springs is to Banff. The prices are high, the rooms are small, and the overall tone is elegant. There are larger rooms, but for the most part they are small hotel rooms with queen or king beds. Some have nice views of the St. Lawrence River, some have views of the inner courtyard, and some have views of the blank walls next door. You're not staying here for the facilities so much as the ability to say you stayed in the Frontenac.

Very few rooms have separate bedrooms (actual door to the room) or two bathrooms. Because of this, virtually all rooms are for 2 people. Even rooms called "suites" are like this. Strangely, the hotel was built as a hotel and not a condominium. Go figure.

If you want to sell the trip, you should stay in the Frontenac. If you want people to be able to afford the trip, you must stay elsewhere. Therein lies the paradox of Quebec City.

RECOMMENDATION

Provide a narrative of why we should or should not consider this resort	There are a number of very nice hotels in or near the old part of Quebec. This one is very close to the Manoir Victoria.
ADDITIONAL COMMENTS
The issue here is: can you sell a trip where you'll stay in a Marriott no matter how nice it is? It may reduce the cost, but will it help sell the trip?
The amenities of this hotel were comparable to the others we saw in the hotels around the old city. Very nice. Rooms reasonable although virtually all for only 2 people. For some reason, even suites in most of these hotels may have three, four, or more beds, but they don't have bedrooms with doors. This means that even if the room is large, it can only handle 2 people.

Provide a narrative of why we should or should not consider this resort	There is really no reason to stay at a hotel at a local ski area when there are world-class hotels just down the road.

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

If people want to stay at Stoneham, then they can get a better deal by staying at a Red Roof Inn just off the expressway. Stoneham will be a 1-day ski area at most. To stay there would be folly. Even if the place was the most elegant hotel on the planet, the location precludes sending a ski club there.

Many of the features of the hotel were not filled in since it was clear from the start that we would never use this for lodging on a trip to Quebec. Moab, Utah maybe, but not Quebec.

This review is not trying to denigrate the Stoneham Hotel. It is quite nice as a local hotel at a local ski area. It just isn't appropriate for our ski club.

Provide a narrative of why we should or should not consider this resort	If the Frontenac pushes the price out of reach, this, and a couple of other central city hotels could be nice alternatives. The one bed rooms are small, but the others are fine.
ADDITIONAL COMMENTS
This hotel lacks a hot tub which is usually essential to the ski holiday experience. Except for that, it is a nice facility. It is near the shopping area of old Quebec City, but a bit of a distance (maybe 1/2 mile) from the really old Quebec City (that is at river level below the Frontenac). It could provide reasonable lodging in a very nice environment.

RECOMMENDATION

Do you recommend our Club consider this resort?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Explain	A fabulous place with a casino on site. How can you beat that!
What is the maximum #nights for a stay at this resort? (may select more than one choice for a range)	<input type="checkbox"/> 1 <input type="checkbox"/> 2 <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> 3 <input type="checkbox"/> 4 <input type="checkbox"/> 5 <input type="checkbox"/> 6 <input type="checkbox"/> 7 <input type="checkbox"/> More	Explain	It's too far from Mont Sainte Anne and Quebec City to spend the entire trip here.
Provide a narrative of why we should or should not consider this resort	We should consider this resort when the train from Quebec City is operational. Until that time, it's too far from Quebec City to be feasible. Also, it's kind of expensive.

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

The first thing that strikes you about the place is its outside architecture. It looks like a castle on the river. The next thing is the size of the rooms. There are 5 room types: Fairmont Room (1K or 1Q), Deluxe Room (2D or 1Q), Deluxe Room with a View (1K, 1Q), 1BR Suite (1K or 1Q with a LR and Kit area), 2BR Suite (same as 1BR Suite with an upstairs). However, despite the size and sleeping quarters of the rooms, all have 1 bathroom, so they're all essentially for 2 people. In fact, the Fairmont Room is likely only for a couple. Fitting more people in would be difficult.

Again, as with the Frontenac, the problem is how to include this property and still offer a reasonably priced trip. To make matters more complex, the Richelieu is in a fairly obscure location (about 1.5 hours from Quebec City). The only relatively viable close ski area is Le Massif.

Despite the urge to stay here, until the train is operating and Le Massif has grown some, this is not a realistic place to stay. Try the winter of 2008-2009 or the following year. By then, it is scheduled to accept winter visitors in greater numbers because the train will be running.

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

There are other facilities at Mont Sainte Anne. For example, there are at least two condo complexes. However, we either didn't have time to see them or they were not participating in the fam trip. I have some info on them, but it is sketchy. They may have larger units, but once again, having more than one bathroom per unit is rare in this area.

One option is to stay here half the week and then in Quebec City for the other half.

RECOMMENDATION

Do you recommend our Club consider this resort?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Explain	If we're looking for a low price alternative to the Chateau Mont Sainte Anne, this is a nice choice.
What is the maximum #nights for a stay at this resort? (may select more than one choice for a range)	<input type="checkbox"/> 1 <input type="checkbox"/> 2 <input type="checkbox"/> 3 <input type="checkbox"/> 4 <input type="checkbox"/> 5 <input type="checkbox"/> 6 <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> 7 <input type="checkbox"/> More	Explain	About as many as you would stay at the Chateau Mont Sainte Anne.
Provide a narrative of why we should or should not consider this resort	If you want ski-in then the Chateau Mont Sainte Anne and the condos at Mont Sainte Anne are the only alternatives. If you want to save a little, this is a nice option.

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

Like virtually all rooms in the Quebec City area, they only have 1 bathroom. This suggests only 2 people to a room no matter what the configuration is.
While it's not walking distance to the slopes, it isn't far, and the bus runs frequently.
Getting into Quebec City for the evening is possible, but might be costly. It's about a 35-45 minute drive depending on traffic.
